My family have a long history living in Tackley and the bridleway is and always has been a highly used area.

The mix of walkers with dogs, cyclists, horses and pedestrians in a closed narrow path is a recipe for an accident, let alone with a high speed train passing to spook horses. This is on network rails shoulders if accidents were to happen.

There are better solutions, please be considerate and make a good decision to suit all. Have you spoken to the land owners of this field to re-route the bridleway, it could go round the opposite side of this field where there is an existing footpath? This could create enough space with safety for all?

Thank you for your consideration
