I don't know why anyone would think this is a good idea when there is a cheaper and viable alternative. Stapleford sits in the green belt just outside Cambridge and it is beautiful and peaceful. The Green belt, which now seems to be expendable, has protected the village up to now. This busway will destroy productive farmland and cut across the Barn track which is the only area for walking which can be reached on foot. Send the buses down the A1307 and protect our village.
