Good afternoon,

I wish to strongly object to the closure of the crossing. Living directly across from Dark Lane (which leads to the crossing) and having been brought up in the house next door, I have better knowledge and understanding about this area than most.

The crossing is very well used throughout the year. There is clear vision for hundreds and yards to both the left and right of the railway track and so the idea that this is a dangerous crossing is pure bunkum! Additionally, the proposed alternative crossing is totally unsuitable as apart from being rough and narrow, it leads to a main road with no pavement which in itself is a hazard.

Ideally, a footbridge should be built over the railway line. Alternatively why not erect barriers on either side of the crossing (using level crossing technology) which automatically close when trains are approaching?

In summary, Moorgate crossing must not be lost to the area and the proposed alternative is ludicrous.
