Dear Sir or Madam

I am a local resident ([REDACTED]). I frequently use the bridleway to either go to Kirtlington, the Oxford Canal or as part of a circular route. I frequently walk, run, and cycle on the path. The bridleway is part of the national cycle network. Many people use the path as part of the network.

At no point during discussions of bridge / underpass options was any suggestion made that the bridleway is closed. Due to the excavations below the railway bridge at Whitehill it is often difficult to access the canal / Kirtlington if the path is re-routed.

Should the path be closed the accessibility of the railway station to Kirtlington residents will be severely affected.

In summary I strongly object to the closure of the bridleway.

Yours Guy Roberts
