Hi - I am amazed to learn that the bridleway at Tackley is proposed to be rerouted to run along the railway, and not only rerouted, but fenced in. I can only assume that whoever is proposing this, knows nothing of horses!

This is an incredibly dangerous proposal, imagine a family of young children cycling or walking and a horse is spooked by a train, in a fenced in area, a bolting horse could cause utter carnage.

I'm fortunate to ride with a friend who lives at Tackley regularly, and this wouldn't be a bridleway we would be prepared to ride along even with our horses who are as close to bombproof as possible to be.

I hope a safer solution can be found for all bridleway users.

Yours sincerely
